Join us 27 March at Churchill War Rooms, London to experience rapid change in a safe, simulated environment, whilst deploying technologies, improving processes and achieving success.

Participants are assigned roles across the disciplines: Business, Development, QA, Operations, Service Desk etc. They're thrown into a simulated environment that challenges them to develop and launch new products against a backdrop of constantly changing internal and external forces. After each round there is a review period packed with dramatic "aha!" moments for everyone – and the insights come from the participants themselves.
